Wisconsin AIHA February Program Announcement

Topic: Mardi Gras Party, Scholarship Presentation and Ventilation Program.

Mardi Gras Themed Party: Since we can’t make it to New Orleans, we are hoping the next best thing might be New Berlin. Please join us for a Mardi Gras themed event. We will be hosting non-alcoholic tropical drinks for happy hour, a Fat Tuesday Feast from the Bayou and a King Cake dessert with a $50 gift card for whoever gets the baby.

Scholarship Presentation: We are proud to present our 2018 scholarship to Matthew Hug. Matthew is a senior at UW-Platteville studying in Occupational Safety Management. He is current president of their student chapter of the American Society of Safety Professionals. He has completed safety internships at Broan in Hartford and Strattec in Milwaukee. His future goals include a workplace free from recognizable hazards, zero injuries, complete OSHA compliance, and every worker to leave work in the same condition in which they arrived. What a wonderful goal!

Tour and Technical Program on Industrial Ventilation at Hastings Air Energy Control.

We are excited to have Hastings Ventilation hosting our dinner program. Hastings provides high value, quality engineered, energy efficient, environmentally responsible product and service solutions that protect workers from harmful airborne contaminants. They service customers using knowledge and experience gained over 49 years in the industry with support from carefully chosen manufacturer and contractor partners. They are focused on maintaining their position as the provider of choice, the acknowledged leader and innovator in the air cleaning industry.

Evening will include a technical presentation on ventilation as well as a guided tour of their Technology Experience Center. This interactive showroom enables hands-on demonstrations of air filtration products and energy-saving systems. The 5,000+ square foot TEC includes the latest and most revolutionary technology in the world of process ventilation.
